Councillors don't agree on motions

Mamta Lulla
Western Review

A special council meeting took place inside the Brazeau County council chambers that saw more motions being defeated than carried.

Councillors discussed solar energy and the province's Growing Forward 2 (GF2) On-Farm Energy Management program at the meeting.

According to meeting minutes, councillors could not agree on the GF2 On-Farm Energy program except for one motion directing administration to recommend a municipal program to complement the provincial program, which shares the cost of investments that improve energy efficiency on Alberta farms.

"Council just needs more time to do more research. My concern was that there is limited amount of funding and if the farmers don't know what we are willing to contribute to help with this program, I am not sure what the update will be from the farming community," said Reece Bart Guyon.

Before the above motion, there were many motions passed that were defeated, including Guyon's motion to subsidize "a maximum of $12,000 for GF2 or installation of farm solar photovoltaic systems, subject to provincial grant."

Coun. Anthony Heinrich made a friendly amendment to change $12,000 subsidy to $7,000 but Guyon did not accept the change. Another motion that was defeated was Coun. Shirley Mahan's amendment to change the figure to $10,000.

Guyon's motion for the county to subsidize $1 per watt for a maximum of 10,000 watts was also defeated during the discussion. "I just have to be patient and wait for everyone to get up to speed on what our options are but it's just unfortunate from farming perspective because farmers don't know where we sit right now," said Guyon.

LOCAL PROGRAM
County administration will look into suitability and cost for solar panels on all county buildings and facilities to develop data to be used in applications for the Alberta Municipal Solar program after the government announced funding to support installation of panels.

The program will provide rebates of up to 75 cents per watt, to a maximum of $300,000 per project. The province will accept applications beginning on March 1. The County data is anticipated to be gathered by Feb. 26.

Developing and revitalizing Drayton Valley

Mamta Lulla
Western Review

At the governance and priorities meeting on Feb. 10 Drayton Valley Town Council and administration discussed local economic development and revitalization of downtown core among other parts of the town.

Coun. Graham Long and Mayor Glenn McLean discussed sponsorship ideas and agreed that it would be a challenging task at the moment given the economic times.

McLean added that the current times are difficult but once the economy bounces back, labour will move around once again and the Drayton Valley community will have to be appealing to attract more people.

Councillors agreed the downtown core could use revitalization. Coun. Nicole Nadeau presented examples to include art and culture while considering economic development.

Coun. Dean Shuler said as much as he would like to see the downtown part of Drayton Valley be developed, he added that it has been revitalized a couple times before and the council should focus on some other parts of Drayton Valley such as the community trails or local parks that are not being used to their full potential.

Coun. Debra Bossert agreed with Shuler and added that one of the areas that should be the focus is 50 Ave. from the local McDonalds while entering the town as that is one of the main access to the town.

"It is unattractive to say the least," she said. She added that the stores in that area have lower appearance and the area can use more green and council should look into bylaws to improve appearances of some old buildings.

Mobile mammogram trailer comes to town

Cathy Weetman Western Review

X-ray technologist Louisa Leduc stands beside the mammogram machine while the mobile unit has been parked at the Omniplex from February 6 to 13. A total of four technologists have been busy screening women from ages 50 to 74 for any signs of breast cancer.

Cathy Weetman Western Review

Screen Test, the mobile breast cancer screening trailer travelled to Drayton Valley and tested over 200 women between 50 and 74 years of age for early signs of breast cancer from February 6 to 13.

According to Harmony McRae, Community Co-ordinator for Screen Test, 100 per cent of the appointments were booked for that age group because they are the most susceptible to be diagnosed with breast cancer.

She said there are two permanent screening locations in Alberta - one in Edmonton and one in Calgary, plus two mobile screening units, one of which covers the rural areas south of Edmonton while the other covers rural areas north of the city. The program has been running since 1991, she added.

Provincial Court briefs

Driver sentenced to 15 days

Cathy Weetman
Western Review

A Drayton Valley man is spending 15 days in jail for breaking terms of his conditions dating back to October of 2014. Wilfred M. Schamber was first charged on October 16 of 2014 of operating a motor vehicle while disqualified when stopped for speeding by RCMP in Warburg. The vehicle was supposed to be equipped with an ignition interlock system. For that charge, Schamber spent 30 days in custody and was given a one-year driving prohibition.

On May 15 of 2015, Schamber was stopped near Lodgepole during a check stop, and when asked for his driver's licence and registration, Schamber replied he had left his licence in another pair of pants at home, and added he was driving to British Columbia to look for a job. When police ran checks on Schamber, they discovered he was driving while suspended in a vehicle that did not have an ignition interlock system in it and had not applied for a new driver's licence. He was given 19 days in custody for this offence. Court also heard that while one of Schamber's vehicles was equipped with an ignition interlock device, he was driving to British Columbia in another vehicle that didn't have the device.

Provincial Court Judge Marilyn White asked Schamber, a divorced father of two children, if he had anything to say after pleading guilty to the charges of driving while disqualified. He replied, "Have mercy," adding he is currently working at a job where his boss picks him up for work in the morning and drops him off at night, which he described as "being a golden".

For the charges, Judge White sentenced Schamber to 14 days in custody and handed him a $1400 fine plus a $100 victim surcharge or serve an extra day in custody in default, which he chose to do. Judge White also warned Schamber that if he is caught driving anywhere in Canada while disqualified, there wouldn't be any leniency because this is his third offence.

Local church to hold workshop

Justine Kimodei
Western Review

All Saints' Anglican Church is putting on a Blanket Exercise Workshop on Feb. 20 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

This is a free educational workshop for anyone in the community who wants to get a better understanding about Canada's indigenous people.

"The purpose of this workshop is to educate ourselves about the past and some of the current realities of indigenous people living in Canada and to begin the work of neighbourly reconciliation. We will use a teaching tool called the Salmo Blanket Exercise at the workshop," said All Saints' Anglican Church interim priest Miranda Sutherland. "Participants will gain a greater understanding about the historic and contemporary relationship between and among indigenous and non-indigenous peoples in Canada."

This is the first time the church is holding this kind of workshop and Sutherland encourages everyone in the community to attend.

"Generally, it would result in) more understanding about a people group, less discrimination, dispelling of myths and stereotypes, and more compassion (may be) demonstrated after hearing people's stories," she said. "Indigenous people are not going away. They are not going to be assimilated into 'the body politic.' The issues faced by indigenous people are also our issues. We are all treaty people."

To register for the workshop or for more information, call (780) 542-5508 by Feb. 18.

Dine at Sunrise Village

Mamta Lulla
Western Review

In the hopes of helping with the CTADV campaign, Sunrise Village in Drayton Valley is hosting a Winter Gala: a dinner to raise money.

"They approached us because they wanted to do something and I think it's great to step up and it also gives folks a chance to go and visit the facility," said Drayton Valley Health Services Foundation fund development officer Colleen Sedars.

Sunrise Village general manager (Genia Martel) said she believes the CTADV is really important for this community.

"As staff, we think it's really important especially when you are dealing with a lot of seniors and it's something we need here and if something we can do, we are willing to do," said Martel.

CTADV campaign has raised money for the CTADV for the Drayton Valley Hospital, but still needs money to renovate the room where the scanner will be placed.

The kitchen staff at Sunrise Village who normally puts together meals for residents will be cooking a roast beef dinner for the Winter Gala.

There will be entertainment from musicians playing piano and saxophone and dancers who will delight all attendees. There will also be a silent auction and a raffle draw that evening.

Although the dinner is open to everyone in the community who buys tickets, it is geared towards seniors in the area.

"Seniors in the community who have been in the community as... for years and are now in their retirement and still want to give back to the community and they want to help us out," said Sedars.

Residents who reside at Sunrise Village can also participate in the event if they wish and buy the tickets.

The organizers are expecting about 90-100 people at the event.

The dinner is set for Feb. 27 and tickets are $45 and can be purchased at the Drayton Valley Health Services Foundation, Value Drug Mart and the Sunrise Village.

Local children part of ACC

Mamta Lulla
Western Review

Five children participated in the Alberta Children's Choir (ACC) in Edmonton recently and for some it was their last year.

For Frank Maddock, High School student Julia Platt and Rhinoceros Greaser, being part of the choir has become a tradition as they have been doing it for five years.

"It's always really great. It was a bit more exciting this year because it is our last year we can be in it. The program runs from age 11 to 15," said Greaser who is in Grade 10.

All five children from the Drayton Valley area: Platt, Rhinoceros and Ian Greaser, Hanna Kow and Hannah Mahari were part of the 2016 Northern Alberta Children's Choir which takes place in Edmonton with a total of about 80 children who participated in the choir this year.

Children are considered once they have recommendations and skills and they get to rehearse on their own except for a rehearsal with the group. This year, children were given about a month to practice on their own, and they came together for a regional practice.

"It was an opportunity to work towards something even if it's challenging because outside of those four days that you practice with the group everything is done by yourself. In all your words, no one is conducting you," said Kow who is a Grade 10 student.

To enter, some music skills come in handy such as how good children are at reading music, listening to a piece and repeating it and their musical experience.

Platt, who has been part of the choir for the past five years, said children get to network and make connections.

"It shows us people that you have great teamwork skills. You work with 100 kids. You make great friendships and later when you go to university you see them and say, 'hey I was with you in the choir,'" she said.

The time of the concert depends on the conductor with some that have six to seven pieces while others conduct about 11 to 12 pieces.

All three Frank Maddock, High School students hope the awareness of the annual program increases in the community and more students take part in the program.

Rhinoceros Greaser said even though she can't be part of the choir in the coming years, her brother Ian Greaser hopefully will be.

Crew deals with two structure fires

Mamta Lulla
Western Review

Drayton Valley/Brazee County Fire Services were called out to two structure fires recently with both fires still under investigation.

On Feb. 3 around 7 p.m., Drayton Valley fire station was dispatched to a fire on Township Road 484 near Rwy 620 with flames showing. Upon arrival, the crew found that the shack on fire was a tinsmithy business.

The fire was extinguished with the help from crews at Lodgepole station. The cause and origin of the fire is yet to be determined and the incident is under investigation. Half the structure was lost in the incident including a few priced antler racks.

In another incident on Feb. 10 on RR 65 a detached garage was on fire at a residence at 4 a.m.

Upon arrival, the crews saw that the roof of the garage was lost in the incident and so the crews conducted a defensive operation and treated it as a contents fire meaning members did not enter the premises for life safety purposes.

Both Breton and Lodgepole stations assisted with the incident. Crews reported that the garage had vehicles and equipment, but the property loss is yet to be determined, including cause and origin.

No injuries were reported in both incidents.

TREE CAUGHT ON FIRE
On Feb. 6 at 12:55 p.m. there was an outside fire involving a tree that had fallen over some power lines near Hwy 22 and 616 junction.

Once on scene, crews saw that the fire was not spreading and extinguished where the tree had fallen over and caught on fire.

The scene was cleared and handed over to the local power company who had to remove the tree.

SAFETY TIPS FOR SPACE HEATERS

All space heaters need about three feet of space from anything combustible like paper, bedding or furniture. The fire crew advise supervision with children around space heaters.

Some residents use ovens as heating devices, which is a no-no in the fire department's books.

It is also advised to call professionals when installing a fixed heating system.

It is recommended that residents and businesses install carbon monoxide alarms.

Crew advises to have heating equipment and chimneys cleaned and inspected annually.

For fuel burning space heaters, always use the correct fuel as suggested by the manufacturer.

For wood burning stoves, start the fire with paper not fuel like kerosene and allow ashes to cool before disposing.

THUNDER IN THE VALLEY DRAG RACE

With deepest regrets. Due to the economic climate, lack of personnel and other circumstances beyond our control the Northern Thunder Car Club has no choice but to announce that the thunder in the valley drag race has been cancelled for 2016 and until further notice. It saddens us as a club that we are unable to continue with Thunder in The Valley.

To everyone who committed time and energy to planning, setting up, tearing down and running the event, thank you for everything. Each year for 11 years we have had a core group of volunteers with new people joining us. This event has been the biggest non sanctioned motor sport in central Alberta for over a decade and raised a substantial amount of money for the community. Well done to all!

To all our sponsors big and small thank you from the bottom of our hearts. You have been so very generous to us in both in kind and monetary donations we could not have done this event with out your support. It was wonderful working with all of you and we hope to do more in the future. Again thank you all.

Tickets for DV Thunder fundraiser now on sale

Western Review

The Drayton Valley Thunder will be having their Jean and Jersey Fundraiser on Feb. 27 at the Mackenzie Conference Centre. For $100 a ticket or $600 for a table of eight, event guests will receive a dinner sponsored by Khal's Steakhouse, participate in a live and silent auction, and be entertained by comedian Terry Schubert.

"He will have a few members of the audience up and 'Dr. Phil' them," said Drayton Valley Thunder Sales and Marketing Director Nicole Duthie. "All of our hockey players will be there and it will be an evening of enjoyment and fun and silent auction."

In addition, the Drayton Valley Thunder is also selling raffle tickets for a prize of $10,000 cash. Duthie encourages community members to come out and support the Thunder's fundraiser.

The fundraiser's theme is jeans and jersey, nothing fancy, just very plain and anyone and everyone is invited," she said. "Funds raised will go towards the junior hockey team for our expenses, equipment, and road travel. We just want people to come out to have a good time and enjoy themselves. Meet our hockey players."

Doors open at 5:30 p.m. and supper starts at 6:30 p.m.

For ticket purchases or for more information, contact Nicole Duthie at (780) 517-7815.

City of Airdrie to host 2020 Alberta Winter Games

Special to the Western Review

The City of Airdrie has been successful in its bid to host the Alberta Winter Games in February of 2020. The Games provide an opportunity for Albertans 12 to 17 years of age to compete in a province-wide winter sports competition.

"Congratulations to the City of Airdrie for its hard work in putting together a wonderful proposal to host the 2020 Winter Games," said David Eggen, Minister of Culture and Tourism. "The Alberta Games are an important step in the lives of young athletes. Promoting sport is a priority for our government, and I'm confident Airdrie will do a great job hosting the games."

More than 2,700 participants, their families and spectators are expected to attend these events and participate in a wide variety of sports from skiing, hockey, biathlon, curling and speed skating to synchro swimming, fencing, artistic gymnastics, volleyball and boxing. (For a full list of Winter Games sports and more information see: Alberta Games)

The Alberta Government will provide $740,000 in support of the 2020 Alberta Winter Games through Alberta Sport Connection (ASC), which includes a cultural grant of $70,000.

"These Games will be a great opportunity for Airdrie to showcase its community," said John Short, Chair of ASC. "We look forward to working with them and welcoming athletes from across our province to the 2020 Alberta Winter Games." The Alberta Winter Games are coordinated by the Alberta Sport Connection in partnership with the host community. Participants even have the right to take part in the games by qualifying through time trials held for each sport throughout the province

It is estimated that the Alberta Games generate an economic impact of about $3 million for host communities. For more information about the Alberta Winter Games, visit www.albertagames.com.

Parliament returns

Jim Eglinak
MP for Yellowhead

After a 12-day Parliament began in December we only sat in Parliament for a brief week and a half, before the Christmas break. January 25 was our first full session since the fall election.

The first week of Parliament covered a variety of issues in a 100-hour session. Along with the Prime Minister's mandate speech, I spoke with President Obama about the reputation of the Canada-US border. I also met with a number of cabinet members to discuss the importance of the energy sector to the Canadian economy.

The also statement to hit news against Iran was disheartening as the country's continued support for terrorism as well as its nuclear program has caused the United Nations to impose sanctions that will likely create delays and not change supply prices.

The Special Joint Committee on the environment, established by the government, is holding a series of public consultations with experts and stakeholders to help guide the government's policy on the environment. I will be attending these sessions and will be able to provide input on the environment.

A Private Member's Bill was introduced in the House by Liberal MP Martin, a change calling for changing a line in our National Anthem from "in all of us" to "in all of us and in all of us".

As the week came to a close, the government announced that it is considering whether to call in the sitting of Parliament in order for members to be able to spend more time in their ridings.

There are a number of issues that are facing our country today and I will continue to work hard to make sure that the government of Canada focuses on issues that matter.

Jim Eglinak Elected Vice-Chair of ENVI Committee

Jim Eglinak
MP for Yellowhead

On February 4th, I was honoured to be elected Vice-Chair of the House of Commons Standing Committee on Environment and Sustainable Development. As Vice-Chair, I will support the Chair of the committee and Chair meetings when necessary.

The Standing Committee on Environment and Sustainable Development studies the programs and legislation of Environment Canada, Parks Canada and the Canadian Environmental Assessment Agency as well as reports of the Commissioner of the Environment and Sustainable Development.

This is a very important committee and I am very pleased to have been elected as the Vice-Chair. In the past I have served as a member of the Human Resources, Skills and Social Development and the Status of Persons with Disabilities, as well as the Citizenship and Immigration Committee.

I am looking forward to my new role as Vice-Chair of the ENVI Committee. I would also like to congratulate MP Deborah Schulte on her election as Chair and MP Nathan Cullen on his election as Vice-Chair.
